

750,000 IDLE IN GREATEST STEEL STRIKE

Truman Asks Congress Support of Broad Legislative Program

PLEDGES LOWER GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES FOR NEW YEAR

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Truman asked congress today to get behind a sweeping program he said will promote greater output of lower cost goods by higher paid workers.

And he cautioned that "voices of disunity" which "are beginning to cry aloud again... must not prevail."

In a 25,000-word document combining for the first time both law-making and budget recommendations, the chief executive mixed expressions of optimism over business and job potentialities with fresh warnings against inflation and concern over "major strikes."

Mr. Truman pledged government expenditures during the fiscal year beginning next July 1 at $35,860,000,000—$4,347,000,000 above anticipated income.

And, by drawing on the Treasury's cash balance, he said the national debt can be reduced for the first time in 17 years—from an expected $275,000,000,000 next July to $271,000,000,000 a year later.

He added he can recommend no further tax cuts at this time.

In the "state of the union" portion of his message, Mr. Truman termed establishment of a "fair wage structure" the "most serious difficulty" in the path of reconversion and expansion.

He said labor and management must establish "better human relationships."

Mr. Truman said most industries and most companies "have adequate leeway within which to grant substantial wage increases."

Elaborating on his higher wage theory, he said:

"Good wages mean good markets. Good business means more jobs and better wages... Substantial wage increases are good business for business because they assure a large market for their products; substantial wage increases are good business for labor because they increase labor's standard of living; substantial wage increases are good business for the country as a whole because capacity production means an active, healthy, friendly citizenry enjoying the benefits of democracy under our free enterprise system."

Calls For Action On Entire Domestic Front

The President called for action on his entire domestic program, including his proposal that strikes be held in abeyance while fact-finding boards investigate labor-management disputes.

Full employment and greater production remained the keynote of his recommendations. But he struck a new note in calling for "major steps" by the government to enforce anti-trust laws—suspenders in a number of fields during the war—to "encourage new and competing enterprises in every way."

In the military field, Mr. Truman recommended an army-navy strength of 2,000,000 men for this calendar year and said continuance of the draft beyond its expiring date of May 16 will be necessary if enlistments do not obtain necessary replacements of those demobilized.

He urged the "greatest dispatch" in the world of the United Nations commission to control atomic energy and expressed "great hope"

Warns of "Voices of Disunity Among Us"

Mr. Truman reserved for the last a warning against "disunity."

"We have won a great war—we, the nations of plain people who have won," he declared.

"During this trial the voices of disunity among us were silent or were subdued to an occasional whine that warned us that they were still among us. Those voices are beginning to cry aloud again. We must learn constantly to turn deaf ears to them. They are voices which foster fear and suspicion and intolerance and hate..."

Elaborating on foreign policy, the President said:

1. When difficulties arise between the wartime allies the United States will not try to remove them by sacrificing its ideals or vital interests.

2.—The United States intends to preserve the voice of smaller nations in the writing of peace treaties with Germany and Japan.

3.—The peace we seek is not peace for 20 years—it is a permanent peace.

4.—Even the support of the strongest nations cannot guarantee a peace unless it is "infused with the quality of justice for all nations."

5.—The Allied Control Council for Germany has made "encouraging progress in the face of most serious difficulties."

6.—In the new pattern of Allied control of Japan, the United States, with the "full approval of its partners," has retained primary authority and responsibility.

7.—Gen. George C. Marshall, special envoy to China, is "ably executing" the policy of supporting efforts to bring about a cessation of Chinese civil strife.

The President repeated that demobilization is proceeding as quickly as possible.

Bounty On Foxes

Mahoning county commissioners have placed a bounty of $4 per head on foxes, a move now being urged by the Salem Hunting Club for Columbiana county. A prize of $3 per fox is the average amount being offered throughout the state.

REP. KASCH, AKRON, SUCCEUMS AT 78

AKRON, Jan. 21.—Colorful and militant State Representative Gus Kasch, serving his sixth term in the Ohio legislature since 1923, died yesterday.

He is survived by his widow, a son and an adopted daughter.

Kasch, who had served Akron as city councilman and school board member, was the author of more than 250 bills during the last six years of his career in the Ohio assembly, but he once estimated that only one found its way into the law books.

1,200 MULLINS WORKERS JOIN STRIKE MOVE

Only Local Plant Affected Although Others Fear Effects

The nation-wide steel strike took effect in Salem at midnight when pickets began patrols at the entrances of the Mullins Mfg. Corp.

The number idle here represents approximately 26 per cent of the city's industrially employed population. Nearly 4,500 persons are now employed in Salem plants, all of which will be affected by the strike should it continue.

Salem industry was actually affected at only the Mullins plant today, but a survey of other local plants revealed that supplies on hand will keep the rest of the city's industry in operation from three to four weeks, in most cases.

Office Work On Job
All of the Mullins plant personnel is out, only supervisors and maintenance workers reporting this morning. Non-union office groups passed were allowed to cross picket lines.

Of Salem's 20 major plants, Mullins was the only one affected, despite the fact that at least one other firm had expected workers to strike today.

The steel supply appears to be the major strike worry here today. Representatives of Salem's 10 largest firms were contacted today and their composite opinion indicated that no shutdowns would be caused unless the layoff in steel lasts more than three or four weeks.

One plant said strikes have already curtailed production here, three said supplies on hand would last three weeks and two others fixed their maximum operating period at four weeks.

All estimates of operating time will be indefinite, as actual supply will depend largely on the inventories in warehouses, but officials of plants here said it was highly questionable that any inventories were available as most plants have been trying to secure a stock of steel in preparation for the strike.

Supplies of electrical equipment, affected already by the General Motors, General Electric and other strikes, have already slowed work in several plants here.

SNOW BLANKETS SALEM DISTRICT

Snow now to four inches deep covered Ohio today in the first heavy fall of the new year for most areas.

Temperatures between 22 and 31 were reported and colder weather was predicted in many sectors for tonight. The low here was 26.

Snow fell steadily last night and approximately an inch and a half was recorded.

icy roads, snow-covered and well packed by heavy traffic, were reported throughout this district. State highway workers were ashing them all day today.

No serious accidents were reported but several minor "fender-benders" were reported near Lisbon.

A low of 22 was recorded at Toledo, where two inches of snow fell. Youngstown's minimum of 31 was the highest figure reported.

Perry T. Ford, director of highways, said some parts of the state had four inches and that roads were being chandered and sanded where necessary.

Car Tumble Kills Pvt. Leslie Farmer

Injuries suffered in a fall from an automobile in Beaver Falls, Pa., Friday night proved fatal to Pvt. Leslie L. Farmer, 37, a soldier home on furlough.

Farmer, a former resident of Columbiana, was home on a visit to a cousin, Vernon Little, of Patterson Heights, a suburb of Beaver Falls. While driving downtown, Little told police he heard the door of the car open and turned around to see Farmer plunge through the door onto the street. He died of a fractured skull shortly afterwards in Beaver Falls Providence hospital.

Born Jan. 1, 1909, in East Liverpool, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer.

Besides a wife and three children, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jessit Farmer of Gabriell, Ind., formerly of Clarkston, and one sister, Mrs. Ruth Piquignot of Gabriell.

Funeral service will be held at the Clarkson Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Friends may call at the Warrick funeral home in Columbiana this evening.

Strike Will Continue, CIO President Declares

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. United Steelworkers declared today that the steel strike will continue "until this industry accepts the decision of the President of the United States."

He referred to President Truman's recommendations that Steelworkers' wage dispute be settled with an increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour, which was rejected by the U. S. Steel Corp.

Murray said at a press conference at his union's national headquarters—brain center of the vast strike:

"If reconversion has been hindered and thousands of people have been thrown out of work... If disaster overtakes our nation—it is not because the steelworkers called a strike. It is because industry has said 'no' to the President of the United States."

HARGROVE TO OPEN SALEM TOWN HALL SERIES TOMORROW

What shall we do with the army? Marion Hargrove will give his opinions and comments on that subject when he appears as the first speaker of the season's Town Hall meetings at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the High school auditorium.

Seasoned with the characteristic Hargrove humor, these new long-range views are nevertheless significant and timely.

By what about social distinctions in the army... privileges of officers... uniforms... peace-time military training? Hargrove covers them all with eloquence and wit.

"Everybody likes Hargrove. Under his mask of humor and wit he is as wise as a young serpent. But it is wisdom without malice, wit without venom," says Maxwell Anderson, who was instrumental in having Hargrove's articles in the Charlotte (N.C.) News published in book form.

It appeared in 1942 as "See Here, Private Hargrove," and immediately became a best seller.

Hargrove received his basic training at Fort Bragg in 1941, later was assigned as an editor to Yank, the Army weekly. Then he became the Yank correspondent in China and India and later in the Philippines. He had the rank of sergeant when he was discharged last September.

The public is invited to hear Hargrove at the High school tomorrow night.

NATION'S BIG MILLS CLOSED BY WALKOUT

Wage Boost Rejection Brings Showdown Fight; Picketing Is Quiet

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—The strike of 750,000 C.I.O. Steelworkers for higher pay—the greatest strike in American history and one of the most far-reaching—started today in grim quietness.

The strike blanketed the nation. About 1,300 plants, ranging from the mills which make the steel to the shops which turn it into useful things like railroad rails or can-openers, shut down in 30 states.

In Pennsylvania, which produces one-third of the nation's steel, the strikers in snowy darkness and freezing cold set in motion around the shut-down plants the long slow march of their picket lines. Picket lines were set up elsewhere across the country.

Showdown Fight
No one here would guess how many days, or weeks or months that march of the pickets—to keep out of the plants anyone who might seek to take their jobs—would continue.

It was a showdown fight between the steelworkers and the steel-makers. This country's hopes for a prosperous reconversion were involved critically because so much of American manufacturing uses steel and steel supplies are very small. A long-drawn out strike could break the back of reconversion.

The steel industry—according to a steel industry authority who should know—will lose through the strike about $10,000,000 a day in gross revenue it would have received on its steel sales if there had been no strike.

The industry's average daily wage has been computed at $8.69. At that rate, 750,000 workers will lose $6,517,500 each day they remain idle.

Picketing Is Quiet
The picketing started quietly. The strikers have had plenty of time to get ready for this day. Their wage negotiations with the steel industry had gone on for months and finally broke down Friday, despite the intercession of President Truman, who suggested a compromise.

The union accepted Mr. Truman's proposal for a wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour. The U. S. Steel Corp., the giant which is the guide-

Grass Fires Keep Firemen On Jump

A series of five fires, four of which occurred in rapid succession, yesterday, caused considerable excitement, but little damage.

At 5:45 p. m., yesterday firemen were called to 910 E. State st., to extinguish a fire among some rubbish.

At 6:11 p. m., a grass fire on New-garden st., which eventually reached the Depot road, commanded the department's attention. A crew was busy there until 7:20 p. m.

At 6:35 p. m., a second truck was sent to take out at E. and B. Lundy ave. on a false alarm.

At 7:35 p. m., another call took the department to lower B. Eliasworth ave., near Broadway, where more grass had caught fire.

Closing the busy period of activity another grass fire was reported near the Salem China Co. buildings at 9:28 last night.

Chief Vincent Malloy said the New-garden st. grass fire was the largest. The glow in the sky attracted many persons who drove to the scene.

Steel's Problem In Management

The statement by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corp., rejecting President Truman's proposal for settling the steel industry's wage argument by an increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour, is a reminder that steel management's problem is bigger than labor relations alone. A strike will hurt, but appeasement might hurt worse.

Steel management must stay in business, first of all. It must think of its customers. Mr. Fairless speaks of "financial harm" not only to U. S. Steel but to users of steel if an unduly large wage increase in this basic industry sets the pace for inflation. He speaks of "financial disaster" for small steel producers, fabricators and processors.

It is well known that steel's wage policy will be established by whatever terms are reached between U.S.W. and "big steel". It is not so well known that steel's wage policy is subject to direct control by O.P.A., which has power to set steel prices.

What the union has done, in effect, is to join the issue with O.P.A. over how much price inflation is to be sponsored by the government. It has put the steel industry in the middle; the real argument is between the union and Chester Bowles, who seems to be the only Washington official still interested in holding down prices.

What Mr. Fairless has done, in effect, is to notify the Truman administration that he, as merely one spokesman for his industry, will not settle the administration's argument. If Mr. Truman wants inflation and so commands, he can get it the hard way — by firing Mr. Bowles. He is not going to get it the easy way, by handing the hot potato to Mr. Fairless.

A Leader and His Lady

Miami Beach's two welcome guests from England, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill, may learn during their vacation in the United States more about some of the special reasons why Americans are fond of them.

Mrs. Churchill, who has lived in the vortex of British politics for a generation, admitted during her husband's inevitable press conference upon arrival in Florida that she was meeting the press for one of two times in her life.

Mr. Churchill, leader of the opposition in Parliament, refused to get excited about domestic issues, remarking that as long as Britain retained its freedom he would be satisfied.

He explained that the labor party's program of socialism was on trial and would have to stand the verdict of popular judgment; either it would give the people what they wanted or the people would get what they wanted some other way.

He hoped the United States would remember that the British are not numerous enough to be effective in Europe alone and that the United States would not bring everybody home too soon. Asked about U.N.O., he thought it offered a great hope.

Mrs. Churchill, answering a question about what British women had learned from the war, thought they had learned to cook better. For the future, she thought women, if young, could serve humanity best by having babies; if old by staying out of the way, she supposed.

The wartime prime minister of Britain, with a stature in history that is the equal of any man of his times, will paint Florida scenery. If the Churchills can understand it, these are some of America's special reasons for being pleased that there are people like them to remind the rest of us that the dignity of man was only challenged, not hurt, by some of the other public figures whose names were household words in our time.

Misrepresentative Democracy

Every Senate filibuster is an attack on representative democracy. It is an admission that a minority lacking voting strength to defeat a legislative proposal intends to block any decision at all.

There are good arguments on both sides of the fair employment practices issue that has brought on the filibuster. But they will not be heard from the filibuster; they are not interested in arguments.

They are operating outside the pattern of representative government, in a pattern of their own obstruction. Fearful of being defeated in a voting decision, they have taken steps to avert a decision.

The filibuster is a famous and fearful technique. It is misrepresentative democracy at its worst. Whenever it happens, the United States owes an apology to those who have been encouraged to copy this government. The filibuster has no more to do with American political principles than any of the other abuses that defy our principles.

The fair employment practices issue has been raised, it may be admitted, with more practical politics in mind than idealism. It is a bid for votes, with questionable sincerity behind it. But two rights never made a wrong. The Senate filibuster cannot be condoned on any grounds.

Obligations Come First

Industry-wide wage bargaining, with decisions made in remote places, sooner or later comes home to roost.

Every steel town in the United States, every community that depends on an assured supply of steel, now is dealing first-hand with the consequences of the negotiations between United States Steel Corp. and United Steel Workers.

Industrial relations in the steel industry no longer are talking points for meetings in New York and Washington, but cold facts in hundreds of towns and hundreds of thousands of homes.

Dealing with the local consequences of the U.S.W.'s momentous decision to stop work in the nation's basic industry will call for all the best judgment, patience and forbearance that can be mustered.

The temptation to commit violence and revert to lawlessness is implicit in the circumstances that go with a strike. But violence and lawlessness have a nasty way of compounding themselves. They must not get started.

The steel strike is a challenge to American faith in collective bargaining. Either we believe in it, or we don't. If we do believe in it, we must make due allowance for the fact that either side in peacetime has the right to break off negotiations. That is what has happened.

There has been no suspension of laws; there must be no suspension of principles. In time the strike will be settled. When the time comes, there should be as little as possible to look back on with regret.

As Americans, all of us have obligations as well as privileges. Now is the time to bear down on the obligations, lest some of the most important ones get slighted. The most important obligation of all is to try to say or do nothing we will regret.

No Asylum In Politics

A post-mortem by Army surgeons confirms that Robert Ley, most depraved in manner and appearance of the German National Socialist leaders, had suffered from a diseased brain for years. Ley's specialty was to keep German workers lined up in the slaughter plot conceived by Hitler.

During the shambles precipitated by these men whose mental sickness was obvious even to the Germans whose group paranoia made Nazi scheming seem logical, we observed many times that sovereign people had the right to be protected against insanity in political circles. This could be done with psychiatric examinations of candidates for the highest places of authority and period examinations thereafter of the holders of those places.

Adolf Hitler, Herman Goering, Rudolf Hess—and now Ley—were all obviously insane in varying degrees. If the U.N.O. Assembly could use one more question, it might discuss the feasibility of preventing international blood-letting by finding the blood-letters before they run amuck. Post-mortems are pale consolation for millions of men killed.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, January 22.

A MOST auspicious occasion for launching new enterprises of far-reaching consequences. And while definite initiative and action are important, there is a possibility of over-acting, or making a mistake or regrettable error under a high-tensioned mentality or high-strung emotions or impulses.

The best assets might be found in poise, culture, beauty or personal magnetism rather than force or turbulence. Social, domestic, affectional and artistic issues depend upon the measure of amiability and charm executed.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find a year of important projects in which are many high ambitions, objectives or cherished hopes and wishes. This in most personal affiliations as well as in major business operations, where vital decisions should be handled with consideration, and keep mental slant rather than forced conclusions or impetuosity.

The personal element is accentuated and should be utilized in all sentimental, social, domestic or cultural matters, where glamor, beauty, idealism and high aspirations have power to influence, rather than rash or forced tactics.

A child born on this day should have a career of love, grace and charm, with high ambitions and idealism although likely to jump at rash conclusions.

Pain From Inflamed Jaw Points

BY HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M.D.

PAIN in the face and head may be due to many conditions which affect the nervous system. A fairly common cause may be an inflammation of the joint in the jaw known as the mandibular joint. The pain in this condition is felt for the most part in and around the ear, but it also may affect the cheek, or the area about the eye. Occasionally, the pain is located in the back or the top of the head. In some cases, deafness, ringing in the ears and dizziness may be present.

There are various conditions which may be confused with inflammation of the mandibular joint. For example, an acute locking of the jaw might arise during yawning, or following the biting of an apple, or as a result of a blow on the chin. The jaws may lock due to ulcerated teeth, an abscess in the throat, mumps, a fracture or break of the jawbone, a boil within the ear canal, or unruptured teeth.

Cracking Sound
Trouble with the mandibular joint which may be indicated by a symptom such as a cracking sound when the joint is moved, or an uneven movement of the jaw on opening or closing the mouth. There may also be some tenderness over the jaw. An X-ray of the joint often helps to confirm the diagnosis. A test can also be carried out to make sure whether trouble with the mandibular joint is producing the symptoms. This test is carried out by fixing the lower jaw in a particular position with an elastic type of head gear.

If, when this is done, the pain and other symptoms disappear, it may be assumed that the trouble is the result of a disorder of the mandibular joint, instead of nerve inflammation or similar disorders.

Disorders Corrected
Once a diagnosis is made, any abscessed or unruptured teeth should be removed and the other disorders which may cause locking of the joint, if present, should be corrected.

Bear in mind that many disorders may cause pain in the face. When it occurs, there is need for careful study by the doctor to determine whether or not the jaw joints are involved. An X-ray of the jaw joints is often helpful in determining what condition may be present.

Klein's Garage Equipped To Keep Cars Operating

Any automobile owner must realize his car is going to have to give him service for many months before he can reasonably expect to trade it for a new one.

Under usual driving conditions any new car would be dependable up to about 30,000 miles without any special repair or replacement garage expense. From this point on it was expected that some parts would have to be replaced and repairs made.

One of the most certain conditions to develop is misalignment, this is caused by either a slight wearing of the front-end bearings or the pumping of curbs and other like shocks to the bearings and the possibility of bending one or more rods, axle or frame.

Matt Klein, who operates a Bear System axle, frame and alignment specialized garage on Newgarden st. states: "Few cars today are free from some cause that will only become serious unless attention is given."

Cars that have misalignment wears tires much faster, they are much harder to handle and are often the cause of accidents as the condition becomes aggravated. The

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

MANILA—During the battle for Manila a skinny little war correspondent weighing 112 pounds was asked on the carpet by a chunky American headquarters general in uniform.

"You're little better than a traitor to your country," the general said.

The small man's crime was that he had told fully the horrors of battle and their emotional impact on the dirty men who carry the brunt of war.

The brass hats who worry about such matters thought this slender, middle-aged writer was hurting American morale. They were wrong. He turned out to be one of the army's best morale builders.

That was Ernie Pyle, killed later covering his fifth campaign in the field.

It comes as something of a surprise now to read less than a year after Pyle went to his grave that Henry Louis Mencken, the oracle of Baltimore, believes correspondents were "a sorry lot" and did a poor job of covering World War II.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mencken said, however, that Pyle did a good job of the kind of task he set himself to do.

In Baltimore today, Mencken said he had no comment "except that the facts speak for themselves."

Mencken, dean of American intelligence, soundly observes that it is "a primary duty of reporters to tell the truth until it becomes dangerous."

But in concluding that "there wasn't much of that," he is less than fair to a good number of able and conscientious newspapermen who he buried in soldier cemeteries today because they never quit to be good reporters.

Mencken says of war correspondents generally that they were "either typewriter statesmen turning out dope stuff drearily dreamed up or sentimental human interest scribblers turning out Maudslyn stuff about the common soldier easy to get by the censors."

There were "typewriter statesmen" among the press corps, although Pyle was not one.

Both at headquarters and at the front there were many hard-hitting newsmen who wore out their hearts or risked their lives living up to Mencken's own dictum that "good reporting is an effort to get the truth and tell it, no matter who gets hurt."

They fought capricious censorship throughout the war to give the American public as accurate and as complete a picture of what was going on as could be given within the limits of military security.

They wrote boldly, critically and fearlessly.

A lot of it died under the Army's blue pencil, but there was enough get through and it is possible to answer Mencken's complaint that he doesn't "even know yet what generals got licked" in the battle of the Bulge.

Those of us who were there reported at the time that it was a German by the name of Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt.

Stuebenville Man Files For State Senate Post

He has been active in civic and professional affairs since his admission to the bar. He has served as president of the Jefferson County Bar association, Steubenville Elks club, and the Steubenville Automobile association.

He is a director of the Jefferson County Farmers and Sportsmen's League, vice president of the Social Service union and a former elected ruler of the Elks. He is a member of the Methodist church.

"SO YOU CAME ALL THE WAY FROM YOUNGSTOWN JUST TO PUT IN MY PHONE!"

● An Akron housewife recently was amazed to learn that an installer had come all the way from Youngstown to put in her telephone service . . . and on Sunday, too. That to her was service plus. But the incident is one of many unusual steps being taken by us throughout the state to catch up with the demand for telephone service that piled up during the war. When new exchange equipment in Akron made possible connection of more telephones than the local forces could handle quickly, an S. O. S. went out to Youngstown and Canton. The next Sunday a caravan of 27 installation trucks rolled into Akron from these neighboring cities. As a result, service was installed promptly for a number of Akronites and we gained another lap on our way back to abundant telephone service for everyone. This is the kind of teamwork that will enable us to complete the largest peacetime building program in our history during 1946 and to fill all war-delayed orders for service by the end of next year. Elaine McGhee, Otis Rhodes Wed In Church Rites Sunday

One of the most beautifully appointed weddings of the season was solemnized at 2:45 p. m. Sunday in the Methodist church when Miss Elaine McGhee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGhee of Cleveland st., and Otis A. Rhodes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Rhodes, Sr., R. D. 4, Salem, exchanged their marriage vows in the double ring ceremony. The pastor, Dr. James A. Scott, officiated.

Palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums banked the altar, which was lighted by the soft glow of tall white tapers in seven-branch candelabra, on either side.

Homer S. Taylor, church organist and choir director, played the musical prelude, including these numbers: "God's Time Is Best," "Through the Years," "Liebestraume" and "The Rosary." During the service he played "Ave Maria" and "O Perfect Love." W. Wentz Alspaugh sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridal chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's wedding march were used for the processional and the recessional.

While the couple knelt at the altar Mr. Alspaugh sang "Abide With Me."

Bride's Gown
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown created of white satin and net. The tight fitted bodice had a scalloped neckline, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, pointed at the wrist, and a full net skirt over satin ending in a long train. Her finger-tip veil fell from a Juliet cap of seed pearls and tiny crystal beads. She carried a white orchid bouquet, topped with a white orchid from which were ribbon streamers.

Miss June Chappell, maid of honor, was attired in a floor-length gown of light blue lace over satin, with a drop shoulder effect neckline, bracelet length sleeves and a full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and baby iris.

Miss Sally Strank and Mrs. Ralph Landwert, bridesmaids, were costumed in gowns of light green net over satin and dusty rose net over tulle, respectively, styled similar to the maid of honor. Their gowns had sweetheart necklines, three-quarter length sleeves and full floor-length skirts. They carried arm bouquets of yellow jonquils and baby iris.

Eugene Rhodes served his brother as best man. The ushers were Wade McGhee, brother of the bride, and Richard Rhodes, brother of the groom.

The bride presented her attendants with compacts. The groom gave the best man and the ushers gold tie and collar sets.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McGhee chose a black dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Rhodes, mother of the groom, was dressed in black with harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Reception At Church
A reception was held in the church parlor for 150 relatives and friends. Mrs. Wade McGhee, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. W. Wentz Alspaugh presided at the refreshment table.

The lovely table decorations were unusual in their artistic arrangement. The center attraction on the bride's table was a large pink and white three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. On either side were bowls of white chrysanthemums, and beside them were tall white tapers in silver candelabra. The side of the table was garlanded with smilax caught with white pompons.

Other table was centered with white tapers in silver candelabra and adorned with cases of pink flowers. The garlands of smilax around this table were held by deep pink carnations.

Mrs. Rhodes, who was graduated from Salem High school in '44, is employed in the office of the E. W. Bliss Co.

Mr. Rhodes, a graduate of Goshen High school in '41, attended Bluffton college and Kent university before entering the service in February, 1943. He spent 25 months overseas and most of that period he was stationed in Kunning, China. He was recently discharged.

The couple left last night on a honeymoon trip. For traveling the bride wore a pale green dress, trimmed in white wool flowers with brown accessories, and an orchid corsage. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents temporarily.

Out-of-town guests were from McKeesport and Elizabeth, Pa., Canton, Cleveland, Lisbon and Damascus.

Preceding the rehearsal Saturday evening the groom's parents entertained 22 guests at a turkey dinner at their home.

OUT OUR WAY
By J. R. Williams

For her honeymoon trip the bride chose a blue wool suit, graced with a corsage of gardenias.

Demure eyelet embroidery weds sophisticated dark crepe in perfect unity this season, and unites two perennial appeal in dresses — the feminine and the practical.

Eyelet pique and embroidered batiste, both reminiscent of the dainty duds you wore to kindergarten, make flouncy over-blouses and stylized pinafore tops for basic black and navy crepe daytime and evening dresses.

Despite the fragile look of many of the cottons used, they take to the suds and the ironing board as gracefully as denim. Designers, making use of them for summer excitement, see to it that they un-annoy, separate or untie to facilitate frequent trips to the tub.

Typical of the union of lady white tops and dark skirts and dresses are two models shown above. Extravagant use of crisp white eyelet embroidery — to make a giant-sized butterfly bow and a peplum as flouncy as a petticoat, steps up feminine appeal in the over-blouse, left, designed by Nicole de Paris, which tops a floorlength navy crepe skirt and creates one of the most practical dinner gowns of the season.

Embroidered batiste, as exquisitely detailed as an infant's christening frock, makes the trick pinafore top and waist-encircling peplum, which stylizes the Franklin-Simon dark pebbly crepe dress, shown right. To enforce the sharp whiteness of the "pinafore," a fabric-buttoned, bow-tied gilet of pique is teamed up with the sheer batiste.

All Baseball Under One Head?

Commissioner Chandler's Idea Would Include All, Even Amateurs, In Group

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 21.—Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler says all baseball, including even the amateurs, should be under one head.

He also reveals that Negro diamond leaders have discussed the question of reorganizing their leagues on a basis that would permit their entry into organized baseball.

Here to speak at a sports achievement project, the commissioner, at a press conference, disclosed that the presidents of the two Negro leagues had conferred with him, President Ford Frick of the National League and President Will Harridge of the American League.

Chandler said these conferences were at the request of the Negro league presidents and his disclosure came in reply to a question regarding the signing of Jackie Robinson, a Negro, into organized baseball.

"Get House In Order"
Chandler said he was asked if he also would be commissioner for the Negro leagues. "I told them to get their house in order then come to baseball with a petition for recognition," Chandler declared. "The Negro leagues favor keeping their own boys and with these leagues on a sound basis, with a contract like the one we use, they expect those boys to want to stay in their own leagues. I see no reason why the Negro leagues can't become a part of organized baseball with the commissioner serving them as he does other leagues."

Chandler said it was the idea of himself, Frick and Harridge that the Negroes set up their own organization as broad a plan as they desire, including major and minor leagues of various classifications. "Once they do this, I believe the color problem in baseball will be solved," he said.

Outlines Job
Speaking at a meeting of Texas league club owners, the commissioner gave a general outline of the workings of his office and projected his ideas for future control that he said he hoped would bring various departments—the minor leagues and promotional activities among the youngsters—under a single jurisdiction which he thought should be the commissioner's headquarters.

NOTRE DAME CAGERS SET "HOT" PACE

Irish Sport 10-0 Mark. Will Battle Kentucky This Week

BY JOE REICHLER

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. — Four teams gunning for national college basketball honors headline this week's cage card with unbeaten Notre Dame meeting Kentucky and Wyoming shoots twice with Oklahoma A. & M.

The South Bend Irish, currently enjoying the number one rating by virtue of their 10-0 record against some of the country's strongest aggregations, meet their stiffest test of the season Saturday in the once-beaten Wildcats. The Kentuckians have won 12, including a 50-32 trouncing of Tennessee Saturday.

Notre Dame tunes up for the Kentucky encounter by meeting Marquette Tuesday while the Wildcats travel to Atlanta to oppose Georgia Tech in a southeastern conference contest.

The Wyoming-Oklahoma Aggies battles Friday and Saturday bring together two of the foremost forces of the nation. The Aggies, winners of the NCAA title last year, have been beaten once in 11 engagements while the Cowboys have lost one in 13. The far westerners swamped Utah 63-43 Saturday.

List of Unbeaten Narrow

The list of major undefeated teams, already narrowed to five, may receive further pruning as Navy (4-0) tangles with Duke Southern Conference leaders, Saturday. The twice-beaten Blue Devils will seek to lengthen their 11-game winning streak. Holy Cross (7-0) is host to powerful Rhode Island State Thursday and meets Tufts Saturday. West Virginia (11-0), takes on Alderson-Broadus Saturday while Gettysburg (7-0), tackles Lafayette the same day.

Cornell, one of seven teams ousted from the all-conquering class last week, can assure itself of at least a tie for the Eastern Intercollegiate league championship by knocking off Dartmouth Saturday. New York university snapped Cornell's victory string at eight last Wednesday by a 62-48 count. Other teams losing their first last week were Yale, Baldwin-Wallace, Georgia, Tulane, Northwestern and Capital.

By HAROLD HARRISON
COLUMBUS, Jan. 19.—Baseball in January, Steve O'Neill, manager of the World Champion Detroit Tigers, and Luke Sewell, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, will head the "faculty" for a baseball clinic to be held at Toledo Feb. 9 for high school and college coaches and managers of industrial and independent diamond teams in that area.

The clinic, arranged by Eddie Gilliland, president of the Toledo American association team, will be held in the University of Toledo fieldhouse and the "teachers" also will include several major league players. Barney McCoskey, Detroit's hard-hitting outfielder prior to the war, already has sent word he'd be present. Roger Peckinpaugh, general manager of the Cleveland Indians and one of baseball's great shortstops, also is expected to have a hand in the instructional work.

RED BIRDS BUILDING

The Columbus Redbirds of the American association now have 54 players on their roster — and the start of spring training still is six weeks away. Still among the missing are such players as George Stumpf, Jimmy Gleeson and Eddie Malone, who are out of service but have not yet been reinstated.

The Bird management figures it will have approximately 70 players by the time the squad assembles at Biloxi, Miss., in March.

CINCY GOT FIRST DAY

The Cincinnati Reds dug back through the records the other day and reported they had won 28 season openers and lost 33. The Reds have opened at home every year since 1875 except for 1877 when three days of constant rain caused the team to move by boat to Louisville and start play in the Kentucky city. Incidentally, Hod Lisenbee was credited with the victory in last year's season opener and it was his only triumph of the season.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Two Hamilton High school basketball teams have been victims of the same freak play in recent contests. In a game with Columbus South, Bob Alston of Hamilton Catholic made a pass but the ball hit the hand of a South player and bounded into the Columbus basket for two points for the Columbus. The same thing happened the other night when Harold Trenen of Hamilton Public attempted to pass from out of bounds. The ball hit a Dayton Chaminade player's hand and bounced through for a Dayton field goal.

And in this connection, Hamilton fans are getting a little excited over the Catholic High school's athletic teams. For years they were doormats in all sports, losing 17 straight basketball games one season and winning only one of seven football games. But in the 1945 calendar year the record was 31 victories, four defeats and one tie in all sports competition.

Ed Penisten, the former Columbus sports writer who now lives in Chillicothe, dropped in today to join in the shouts of praises for Neil Johnston, Chillicothe High school's high scoring basketball player. "He doesn't handle his feet too well but otherwise he's one of the best I've seen," says Ed.

Those who should know still are insisting that Carroll Widdees' decision to resign as Ohio State's head football coach strictly was his own. Bob Strand of Oberlin, who was one of the state's hottest collegiate basketball scorers last year, is running well behind his 1944-45 point production. He has 101 points in eight games. The 80 to 54 count Oberlin ran up on Denison the other night was the second highest in Yeoman basketball history. The only time it ever was exceeded was in an 81 to 14 triumph over Mt. Union back in 1905.

Al Schacht Finds It Pays To Clow—That's Sure

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. — Al Schacht, the Clown Prince of baseball, has been voted the Bill Slocum Memorial Award for high contribution to baseball by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers association.

The baseball comedian, who pitched for Washington in 1919, 1920 and 1921 and later coached with Washington and the Boston Red Sox, made three overseas trips to North Africa, Sicily, New Guinea, Dutch East Indies, Philippines and Japan. He staged almost 500 overseas performances, appearing before almost 2,000,000 troops in addition to appearances at service hospitals and camps in this country during the war.

REDS TO NAME FRENCH LEADER

Communists Seek Reins After De Gaulle Resigns Presidency

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Jan. 21.—The Communist party launched a drive today to name a Communist as the successor to Gen. Charles De Gaulle, who resigned the provisional presidency of France last night following a cabinet crisis.

De Gaulle stepped down from the presidency with an announcement that he considered he had completed the task of "leading the country toward liberation, victory and sovereignty."

In a letter of resignation addressed to Felix Gouin, president of the constituent assembly, he said: "If I agreed to remain at this government post after Nov. 13, 1945, it was to respond to the unanimity with which the national constituent assembly addressed itself to me to make care of a necessary transition. Today that transition has been effected. Besides, France, after great trials, no longer is in an alarming situation."

intoxicated by Mayor Culler of Washingtonville.

Wickman's injuries and arrest resulted from an accident which occurred on Route 30, three and a half miles east of the intersection of 30 and Route 45, at 1:30 a. m. Sunday. He lost control of his car and rammed a guard rail.

He was arrested an hour and a half following the crash in Lisbon, where Patrolman C. P. Shambaugh found him. The three other injured persons were passengers in Wickman's car, but remained at the scene. All refused medical aid, Patrolman Shambaugh said.

Czerniewski's arrest followed a collision with another car, driven by Agnes Gaffie, 28, of Meadowbrook, Pa., on Route 14, six miles east of Deerfield at 2:45 p. m. Saturday.

Czerniewski was driving a new 1946 Dodge sedan through for a Pittsburgh auto-drive company. He told police he rammed the rear of another new car being taken through and then swerved across the road into the path of the Gaffie car.

Cars driven by Albert Morgan, 44, of R. D. 4, Salem and John Baulo, 24, of Leetonia, sideswiped on Route 14, a mile and a half east of the intersection of Routes 14 and 7, at 12:10 a. m. Sunday. No one was injured, patrolmen said.

ing star for most of the industry, rejected this figure and said it could not grant an increase of more than 15 cents an hour.

The union, which at Mr. Truman's request had postponed its scheduled walkout for one week from Jan. 14, then said the strike must begin.

The union has been arranging with various companies to let maintenance crews pass through the picket lines so the plants will not suffer damage by their inactivity.

Questions in the union and U. S. Steel headquarters brought practically the same answer at the 12:01 a. m. deadline: "Nothing to report. We're just sitting around, waiting for the strike to get under way."

President Philip Murray, CIO president, came here from Washington Sunday and went to his home. But he will make a nationwide radio address at 10:30 tonight.

There was no indication that Benjamin F. Fairless, company president, would say anything or that the government would step in in some way to stop the strike.

Steel Supplies Slim
The danger of a long-drawn-out steel strike to that part of American manufacturing which needs steel—probably 40 to 50 per cent—was indicated in Washington by Civilian Administrator John D. Small.

He predicted a big share of the nation's factories would have to shut down or curtail production if the strike lasts two weeks. The reason: Small supply of steel on hand at many companies.

A plan for voluntary rationing of steel held by warehouses and jobbers went into effect today to conserve the available supply for emergency and public utility use.

This is the biggest steel strike—or any kind of strike—the country has seen.

In 1919 steelworkers struck, perhaps 300,000 of them, when they were poorly organized. That strike was broken.

About 100,000 took part in the 1937 "Little Steel" strike when the CIO was in the process of organizing mills.

Seizure Is Hinted In Meat Dispute

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A possibility of imminent government seizure of the strike-bound meat industry today.

As a fact-finding board appointed by President Truman prepared to open public hearings here tomorrow in the six-day-old walkout, high administrative quarters said major packing plants might be seized.

One influential government official, who declined use of his name, said the question of seizure would be discussed in Washington today.

Identify Murder Victim As Ellwood City Girl

TOLEDO, Jan. 21.—The body of a girl found nude and battered in the Maumee River eight miles northeast of Napoleon, O., Oct. 23 has been identified as Jean Fatur, 20, of Ellwood City, Pa., Toledo police said today.

Identification was made through a dental chart furnished police soon after the girl's body was found, Det. Capt. Ralph Murphy of the Toledo homicide squad announced.

A suspect is being sought in connection with the girl's disappearance.

Say Russians Take U. S. Oil Fields In Hungary

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The New York Times said today in a dispatch from Budapest that the Red army had seized the Hungarian oil fields at Láspe, including the largest which is owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The Russians put in their own geologists and barred Standard Oil's general manager from the field several days ago, the dispatch said.

The oil from the field is being sent in Standard Oil's pipelines to the company's refineries where it is paid for by the Russians, however.
